FRIDAY MARCH 23, 1906

Count Boni is now wondering why he fooled himself out of a steady job.

The Chinese do not want to make the slightest trouble for any foreigners who stay out of China.

The Senate is now busily engaged in showing the House the virtue in haying the last whack at a bill.

The chief difference between grand larceny and high finance is that the latter includes enough to pay the lawyers.

A great many people are wondering whether free alcohol for use in the arts will include the brand utilized in painting the town.

If railroad passes, franking privileges and free seed distribution are all cut off, what will be the use in being a congressman anyway?

Just as life as not Gen. Wood was trying to get even with the 14 of Moros who conferred the title of datto on the Hon. William Jennings Bryan.

If the woodchuck came out after his six weeks sleep he must have thought his alarm clock went off at the wrong date when the storm struck him Monday.

By vote of Senator Lamb, 57 of Goy, Herrick's recess appointments were confirmed. The Senator certainly demonstrated what it means to hold the balance of power in his own hands.

Although it has not yet been stated it may be explained that the visit of the Standard Oil magnates to the White House was for the purpose of "making a purely personal call on the President."

The bill to reduce the salary of Common Pleas Judges to $2,500 per year now pending in the Ohio legislature should never pass. It would be placing too low an estimate on the ability necessary for a Judge.

How extremely absurd it seems for the reformers of Toledo to arrest the actors in order to prevent the theatres being open on Sunday. It so frequently happens that reformers make themselves so ridiculous that their efforts at reform amount to naught.

The legislature has passed the Wilson salary bill, and it is now only necessary for the Governor to place his signature thereto to have it become a law. It will become operative January 1, 1907. It prevents the officials in the larger counties receiving the exorbitant salaries they have heretofore received by placing the maximum at $6,000, and also gives a reasonable salary for the smaller counties, which seems to be about what the people desired.

COUNTY OFFICIALS SALARIES.

The Legislature has at last passed a salary law after much discussion and many days of hard work. It was no easy matter to frame a bill that would be fair and reasonable to all parts of the state, and that they have succeeded in doing so is a credit to the members. Under this bill the salaries of Wood county's officials will be as follows:

Auditor, $3,570.
Treasurer, $3,570.
Probate Judge, $3,570.
Clerk, $3,125.
Sheriff, $2,685 and expenses.
Recorder, $2,430.

"To die," said Dr. Samuel Johnson, "is the fate of man, but to die with lingering anguish is generally his folly."

VICIOUS SEA SNAKES

THERE ARE FIFTY VARIETIES, ALL OF THEM VENOMOUS.

With the exception of the Cobra and Bushmaster of Africa, No Serpent on Land Kills so Quickly and Terribly as Do Those of the Ocean.

Fearlessness is one of the most striking characteristics of sea snakes, and it adds greatly to the danger that is to be apprehended from them. For it often leads them to attack fishermen and swimmers, and even to climb up the anchor chains and through the hawse holes and attack the crew, and as the bite of every one of the fifty known varieties is fatal there is great fear felt of them in the ocean spaces which they inhabit.

These fifty varieties are all classified under the general title of thanatophidia. None of them is able to live anywhere except in ocean water. Every variety and subvariety is as poisonous as the cobra or the bushmaster of Africa. Indeed, with the exception of these two land varieties, there is no snake on land that kills so swiftly and so terribly as do the sea snakes. Owing to their fatal weapons and their ease and celerity in swimming there are practically no enemies which destroy enough of them to diminish their numbers.

Almost all the thanatophidia are beautifully colored, even more gorgeous than any of the land snakes, with the possible exception of the coral, crabs and carpet snakes. They are banded, striped, speckled and blotched with green, olive, yellow, blue and black and present a most brilliant spectacle as they are seen swimming below the surface of the transparent blue of the Indian ocean. When they are swimming at the ordinary rate of speed they seem to undulate all over. They do not wind through the water as the eel does, but their locomotion resembles that of the caterpillar except that it is far more graceful, and as they move and twist the colors play along their sides and backs as they do on the dolphin. When they dash at their prey at full speed they move like an arrow, with their heads and necks thrust straight before them if they are swimming under the surface, or, if they are darting along the top of the water, with their heads elevated just enough to clear the waves. When they are racing along thus their sole means of locomotion is their broad, paddle shaped tail, which is peculiar to all the sea snakes and forms the only striking difference between them and the ordinary land serpent.

This paddle is used like a steamer's screw and has immense power. Bent sideways it will stop the snake immediately as if the creature had anchored suddenly. When dozing or resting over reefs, which are common in the coral banks, snakes hold fast to the rocks or bottom with their broad tails and will often stay in this way for hours in calm weather.

Men may have recovered from the bites of these serpents, but there are certainly none on record. Most of their victims are Malay and other native fishermen, and shore dwellers and physicians rarely get to see them. Statistics are not kept in that part of the world, so it is impossible to ascertain how many are killed in this way each year. Travelers say that there is hardly a fishing village which has not its tale of death to tell.

Scientists once held to the opinion that the deadliness of the bite was due not to the venom, like that of the land snakes, but to some property that caused blood poison, as does the bite of many fishes which are not poisonous in themselves. But this opinion was changed after the medical men on board the British warship Algerine had made careful observations of a sailor who had been bitten. They proved that the snakes were directly poisonous, and that they carry fangs charged with venom exactly like the cobra.

The open ocean is the home of the sea snakes. They do not even ascend the rivers. Their favorite haunts are the arms of the sea, which separate the islands of China, India and the south Pacific seas. They don't stay near the shores, but remain at some distance from the land. They are incapable of much movement on land, and after wriggling about and biting savagely they will stay still till they die. They are found in many parts of the world—in the Indian and Pacific oceans, from Cape of Good Hope and Madagascar to the western shores of Panama and from New Zealand to Japan, in the bay of Bengal and the sea around Nicobars, Molucca, Timor and New Guinea—New York Herald.

Double Flowers.

Nearly all the double flowers of gardens were first found wild. Double buttercups, double primroses, double daisies, double roses and many other things were first discovered among their wild fellows and introduced into the gardens. The florist, however, can produce double flowers. He watches this tendency in nature. If a flower usually has five petals, and he discovers that some of the stamens have somewhat of a petal-like character, the pollen is taken from these flowers and others in a normal condition fertilized with this pollen. The tendency, once started, is then given to the progeny. Almost any species of plant will in this way be capable of producing double flowers. It is surprising that, with this knowledge, more attempts at this line of improvement in ordinary garden flowers are not made.

There is as much difference between genuine patience and sullen endurance as between the smile of love and the malicious gnashing of the teeth.—W. B. Plumer.

Bruises.

No treatment for bruises is more prompt and efficacious than fomentations as hot as can be borne. Firm compression immediately over the injured place will often prevent discoloration, but the hot application will have the same effect. The sooner the heat can be applied the better. Alternate applications of heat and cold are very effective. For all bruises, except those on the head, heat is the remedy, but for severe blows on the head cold is doubtless better. Fomentations may be used at intervals to lessen the soreness, but should not be continued more than five minutes at a time.

Great Britain.

The island of Great Britain—so called to distinguish it from Britain Minor, of Little Britain, in France—is the largest island in Europe. Its greatest length is 608 miles and its greatest breadth 320 miles. It embraces England, Scotland and Wales. No other country in the world has such great mineral wealth in so small an area. Coal is first, and the other important minerals are iron, tin, copper, lead, silver, zinc, iron pyrites and salt.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured.

With LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease, Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

Popes and Their Beards.

If we are to believe the old proverb, prophets have always had beards for the faithful to swear by. Not so with the popes. From the time of St. Peter down to the year 1153 the popes all wore full beards, but for the next four centuries they were cleanly shaven. Then came a period of two centuries in which they again wore the beard, but from the year 1700 until the present time the smooth face alone has been seen in the papal line.

Starving, but Not For Bread.

A beggar who informed a gentleman well known for his philanthropy that he was dying of starvation was presented by the worthy man with a loaf of bread. The would be benefactor was considerably startled, however, at the indignant surprise of the emaciated one. "I'm not bread hungry!" said that individual haughtily.—London Globe.

Had Not Observed It.

Mr. Upjohn (at the banquet)—The colonel is a good after dinner speaker, but did you notice how queerly he mixed his metaphors? Mr. Struckoyle—Why—er—no. He's been taking 'em straight, I think, so far.—Chicago Tribune.

Right In His Line.

"Could you do the landlord in the 'Lady of Lyons'?" asked the manager of the seedy actor. "Well, I should think I might. I have done a good many landlords."—Kansas City Independent.
